Top Tips For Successfully Dating Russian Women

Posted on February 11, 2015 by Lipi B.

From movie and TV scenes to the covers of celebrity magazines, the images of Russian women confirm that they are among the most beautiful women in the world. This is arguably the main reason why many men from all over the world flock to online dating sites everyday looking for opportunities to meet and hook up with Russian ladies. In addition, many people believe that women from Russia are more accessible compared to the women in their countries and are considered easy targets. While this may not necessarily be the main reason why the Russian ladies are so popular, the truth is that you are likely to get a better woman when you go for this option than you would get in your own country if you are a simple, regular guy.

What do you need to know about Russian women?

Besides their natural and unique beauty, women from Russia have a number of unique and special features about them that further endear them to western men looking for partners. For starters, it is worth pointing out that Russian ladies usually have very strong family values. So if you are thinking along the lines of one night stands and casual encounters with no strings attached then the Russian girls are probably not the right ones for you. There is a reason why they are called mail order brides and the name is not because they come through mail but because once they come to you, they are coming to stay. Contemporary Russian culture instills the desire to settle down and raise families and that is exactly what a majority of the Russian women in online dating sites.

Still on marriage, it is easy to wonder why the Russian ladies don't just go ahead and marry men from Russia if they are so concerned about settling down. In truth, most of the women in question would definitely go for that option if they thought it was viable. Unfortunately, there is an imbalance in the country between the number of eligible men to marry and the number of women looking for mates. This imbalance is caused by the fact that almost over 90% of the Russian men are usually married by the time they are 25 years old. This time is too short for a professional Russian woman to push her career and get settled down so most of the working Russian ladies usually find themselves left out and have to find mates from other countries and so they end up at the online dating sites.

Unlike what most western men have been led to believe, not all Russian women are gold diggers. Granted, there are definitely some who are all about money and nothing else but such women only make up a small minority of the total population and the majority are hard working women just trying to find mates that they can settle down with.
